

RISING IN THE CAPE.

BOER MARAUDERS.

IN THE DESOLATE NORTH-WEST.

POLICE POSTS SURPRISED.

LONDON, Nov. 10. It is officially announced that Ferreira, a native of the Transvaal, and several other Boers recently employed in German South-West Africa, are raising in the north-west of Cape Colony, and are trying to organise a rebellion.

Surrounding two police camps at Abash and Witkop, they surprised the occupants. The rebels bound two troopers and captured their arms and ammunition.

After gaining some recruits, Ferreira and his fellow-rebels are now marching on Swartmodder, and are forcing the farmers to join them, asserting that a rising is imminent in the Transvaal.

Nov. 11. The district raised is part of the desolate Great Bushman Land, and is occupied by only a few graziers. Ferreira has not yet been identified.

Lord Elgin, Secretary of State for the Colonies, was at Downing-street late on Saturday evening. Mr. Winston Churchill, the Under-Secretary, is out of town. Sir Jameson, Premier of Cape Colony, is called from Capetown for England on Saturday. It is not likely that he will hear the news till he reaches Las Palmas or Madeira.

TERRORIST WRECKERS.

MILITARY ESCORT KILLED.

MONEY SHOVELLED INTO BAGS.

FIVE THOUSAND POUNDS SECURED.

LONDON, Nov. 9. Further details of the train-wrecking at Rogoff, Russia, show the band of Terrorists numbered 50. They were armed with Mauser rifles and revolvers.

The robbers surrounded the railway station, cut the telegraph wires, and held up the train.

Several bombs were thrown, wrecking the postal van and carriage, and killing an officer of 16 soldiers who were in the carriage, besides two postal officials.

The robbers shovelled the gold, silver, and notes into bags. It is estimated 10,000 roubles were taken.

The Terrorists left the station in military formation, and escaped in carriages. A body of Cossacks is pursuing them.

Nov. 10. The robbers of the train at Rogoff secured a large sum concealed in the baggage. Their booty amounted to 50,000 roubles (5000 in cash). The rest of their capture is unvaluable, consisting of drafts and bonds.

Nov. 11. The robbers of the train at Rogoff executed the bodies of three boys and four adults for robbery.

The soldiers were unharmed at the sight of the youths, and several volleys were fired before all were killed.

FOR LAW ADMINISTRATION.

MR. CROOKS' HUMANITY.

LONDON, Nov. 10. Mr. W. Crooks, M.P., chairman of the Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

Labour party in the report of its chief inspector on the administration of the Poor Law in Poplar, is an attempt to intimidate a democratically-elected Board of Guardians.

Nov. 11. The Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

Labour party in the report of its chief inspector on the administration of the Poor Law in Poplar, is an attempt to intimidate a democratically-elected Board of Guardians.

Nov. 12. The Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

Labour party in the report of its chief inspector on the administration of the Poor Law in Poplar, is an attempt to intimidate a democratically-elected Board of Guardians.

Nov. 13. The Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

Labour party in the report of its chief inspector on the administration of the Poor Law in Poplar, is an attempt to intimidate a democratically-elected Board of Guardians.

Nov. 14. The Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

Labour party in the report of its chief inspector on the administration of the Poor Law in Poplar, is an attempt to intimidate a democratically-elected Board of Guardians.

Nov. 15. The Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

Labour party in the report of its chief inspector on the administration of the Poor Law in Poplar, is an attempt to intimidate a democratically-elected Board of Guardians.

Nov. 16. The Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

Labour party in the report of its chief inspector on the administration of the Poor Law in Poplar, is an attempt to intimidate a democratically-elected Board of Guardians.

Nov. 17. The Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

Labour party in the report of its chief inspector on the administration of the Poor Law in Poplar, is an attempt to intimidate a democratically-elected Board of Guardians.

Nov. 18. The Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

Labour party in the report of its chief inspector on the administration of the Poor Law in Poplar, is an attempt to intimidate a democratically-elected Board of Guardians.

Nov. 19. The Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

Labour party in the report of its chief inspector on the administration of the Poor Law in Poplar, is an attempt to intimidate a democratically-elected Board of Guardians.

Nov. 20. The Board of Guardians of Poplar, in a letter to the press, declares that until he is dismissed he will continue the policy of humanising the Poor Law. He is confident that the Labour party will support him. Mr. Crooks considers that the Government challenge by the

TRADES DISPUTES BILL.

MR. BAUFORD CAUSES SURPRISE.

REFUSES EFFECTIVE OPPOSITION.

LONDON, Nov. 10.

In the House of Commons last night the Trades Disputes Bill, which protects trade unions' funds from liability on account of the acts of members, was read the third time without a division being called for.

The surprise of the sitting was the declaration of Mr. A. J. Bauford that it was too late to change or reject the bill, and he was unwilling to impede the benevolent funds of the unions, though the Government might, he said, have dealt with the funds separately.

After expressing misgivings as to the result of the measure, though not in the immediate future, Mr. Bauford emphasised the fact that the spokesmen of the employers in the House of Commons had not expressed dislike of the bill, and unless they were foolishly and meanly silent because they relied on the House of Lords to reject the measure it must be assumed that they did not think their interests were assailed.

Mr. Bauford trusted that the good sense which Englishmen had shown in the past would again be shown by a moderate use of the exceptional powers conferred by the bill.

Mr. Lawson Walton (Attorney-General) and Mr. Richard Bell (Liberal and Labour) appealed to Mr. Bauford to use his influence to secure the passage of the bill in the House of Lords.

CONSERVATIVES' ACTION INTERPRETED.

A HINT TO THE LORDS.

The "Daily News" states that Mr. Bauford gave the House of Lords a hint to swallow the bill conditional on wrecking the Education Bill.

The "Daily Mail" advises the House of Lords to pass the Trades Disputes Bill, leaving the common people to learn wisdom by bitter experience.

The "Times" says that the House of Lords would be absolutely justified in rejecting the bill, but the majorities in the House of Commons and the tactics pursued there may lead them to take another course.

The "Morning Post" blames the Unionist party for disregarding the reasonable demands of trades unions two years ago, resulting in the formation of unprincipled proposals later.

FIGHTING EFFICIENCY.

LIBERALS RECOGNISE DUTY.

INTERVENTION IN THE CONGO.

LONDON, Nov. 10. At the Lord Mayor's banquet at the Guildhall yesterday Mr. R. B. Haldane, Secretary of State for War, in responding to the toast of the "Imperial Forces," said that Lord Tweedmouth, First Lord of the Admiralty, and he were conscious of their solemn duty not to diminish by a hair's breadth the fighting efficiency of the nation. He wished that the nations of the world would abate their rivalry in armaments, which he believed was the duty of every Christian people to do, and he would not respond to give the lead, but unless a response was forthcoming it was impossible in the interests of peace itself for any nation to let down its strength.

The Marquis of Ripon, Lord President of the Council, in responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," in the absence of the Prime Minister, paid a tribute to the foreign policy of the Marquis of Lansdowne, a policy which facilitated its continuity.

Lord Ripon proceeded to hint that unless Belgium initiated an amelioration of the state of natives in the Congo Free State Great Britain must in concert with other Powers endeavour to apply the remedy, or at any rate she must protect and secure British rights and interests.

Baron Komura, Ambassador from Japan, in responding to the toast of "The Diplomats," said that the Japanese were attached to the alliance with Great Britain and were united in their desire to maintain and strengthen it.

Nov. 11. The Marquis of Ripon, Lord President of the Council, in responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," in the absence of the Prime Minister, paid a tribute to the foreign policy of the Marquis of Lansdowne, a policy which facilitated its continuity.

Lord Ripon proceeded to hint that unless Belgium initiated an amelioration of the state of natives in the Congo Free State Great Britain must in concert with other Powers endeavour to apply the remedy, or at any rate she must protect and secure British rights and interests.

Baron Komura, Ambassador from Japan, in responding to the toast of "The Diplomats," said that the Japanese were attached to the alliance with Great Britain and were united in their desire to maintain and strengthen it.

Nov. 12. The Marquis of Ripon, Lord President of the Council, in responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," in the absence of the Prime Minister, paid a tribute to the foreign policy of the Marquis of Lansdowne, a policy which facilitated its continuity.

Lord Ripon proceeded to hint that unless Belgium initiated an amelioration of the state of natives in the Congo Free State Great Britain must in concert with other Powers endeavour to apply the remedy, or at any rate she must protect and secure British rights and interests.

Baron Komura, Ambassador from Japan, in responding to the toast of "The Diplomats," said that the Japanese were attached to the alliance with Great Britain and were united in their desire to maintain and strengthen it.

Nov. 13. The Marquis of Ripon, Lord President of the Council, in responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," in the absence of the Prime Minister, paid a tribute to the foreign policy of the Marquis of Lansdowne, a policy which facilitated its continuity.

Lord Ripon proceeded to hint that unless Belgium initiated an amelioration of the state of natives in the Congo Free State Great Britain must in concert with other Powers endeavour to apply the remedy, or at any rate she must protect and secure British rights and interests.

Baron Komura, Ambassador from Japan, in responding to the toast of "The Diplomats," said that the Japanese were attached to the alliance with Great Britain and were united in their desire to maintain and strengthen it.

Nov. 14. The Marquis of Ripon, Lord President of the Council, in responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," in the absence of the Prime Minister, paid a tribute to the foreign policy of the Marquis of Lansdowne, a policy which facilitated its continuity.

Lord Ripon proceeded to hint that unless Belgium initiated an amelioration of the state of natives in the Congo Free State Great Britain must in concert with other Powers endeavour to apply the remedy, or at any rate she must protect and secure British rights and interests.

Baron Komura, Ambassador from Japan, in responding to the toast of "The Diplomats," said that the Japanese were attached to the alliance with Great Britain and were united in their desire to maintain and strengthen it.

Nov. 15. The Marquis of Ripon, Lord President of the Council, in responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," in the absence of the Prime Minister, paid a tribute to the foreign policy of the Marquis of Lansdowne, a policy which facilitated its continuity.

Lord Ripon proceeded to hint that unless Belgium initiated an amelioration of the state of natives in the Congo Free State Great Britain must in concert with other Powers endeavour to apply the remedy, or at any rate she must protect and secure British rights and interests.

Baron Komura, Ambassador from Japan, in responding to the toast of "The Diplomats," said that the Japanese were attached to the alliance with Great Britain and were united in their desire to maintain and strengthen it.

Nov. 16. The Marquis of Ripon, Lord President of the Council, in responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," in the absence of the Prime Minister, paid a tribute to the foreign policy of the Marquis of Lansdowne, a policy which facilitated its continuity.

Lord Ripon proceeded to hint that unless Belgium initiated an amelioration of the state of natives in the Congo Free State Great Britain must in concert with other Powers endeavour to apply the remedy, or at any rate she must protect and secure British rights and interests.

Baron Komura, Ambassador from Japan, in responding to the toast of "The Diplomats," said that the Japanese were attached to the alliance with Great Britain and were united in their desire to maintain and strengthen it.

Nov. 17. The Marquis of Ripon, Lord President of the Council, in responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," in the absence of the Prime Minister, paid a tribute to the foreign policy of the Marquis of Lansdowne, a policy which facilitated its continuity.

Lord Ripon proceeded to hint that unless Belgium initiated an amelioration of the state of natives in the Congo Free State Great Britain must in concert with other Powers endeavour to apply the remedy, or at any rate she must protect and secure British rights and interests.

Baron Komura, Ambassador from Japan, in responding to the toast of "The Diplomats," said that the Japanese were attached to the alliance with Great Britain and were united in their desire to maintain and strengthen it.

Nov. 18. The Marquis of Ripon, Lord President of the Council, in responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," in the absence of the Prime Minister, paid a tribute to the foreign policy of the Marquis of Lansdowne, a policy which facilitated its continuity.

Lord Ripon proceeded to hint that unless Belgium initiated an amelioration of the state of natives in the Congo Free State Great Britain must in concert with other Powers endeavour to apply the remedy, or at any rate she must protect and secure British rights and interests.

KING'S BIRTHDAY.

WORLD-WIDE CONGRATULATIONS.

LONDON, Nov. 10.

The King and the Queen are at Sandringham. His Majesty on his birthday received congratulations from all parts of the world.

MESSAGE FROM THE KING.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Friday despatched the following message to His Majesty the King: "In the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Governor-General bids to offer loyal and respectful congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's birthday."

On Saturday morning Lord Northcote received the following reply: "I thank you very sincerely for the message of loyal congratulations and good wishes from the Commonwealth of Australia, which I greatly appreciate."

EULOGIUM BY CANON BOYCE.

Canon Boyce, preaching at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, said:—In celebrating the birthday of our King, Edward VII, they might well be thankful that he had ruled so wise and good. He constantly showed himself active and anxious for the people's welfare, and deeply sympathetic in their troubles. His high character had won their admiration, and his constitutional right to their respect and regard. How different it had been with some others. He (Canon Boyce) could, for instance, think of the four years that he had spent in the House of Commons, and the influence he had on the private, religious, and national life of England. But his present King was always tactful, thoughtful, and genial, and had, by his good qualities, gained the love of the people. He had already won a title that had already won him a name for ages to come, that of Edward the Peacemaker. The reasons for it were acts of statesmanship of a mean and selfish kind, the expression of "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." May they all in their loyalty to the throne be guided by the spirit of the Empire, that day thank their God for so good a King. He had already won a title that had already won him a name for ages to come, that of Edward the Peacemaker. The reasons for it were acts of statesmanship of a mean and selfish kind, the expression of "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." May they all in their loyalty to the throne be guided by the spirit of the Empire, that day thank their God for so good a King.

Nov. 11. The King and the Queen are at Sandringham. His Majesty on his birthday received congratulations from all parts of the world.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Friday despatched the following message to His Majesty the King: "In the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Governor-General bids to offer loyal and respectful congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's birthday."

On Saturday morning Lord Northcote received the following reply: "I thank you very sincerely for the message of loyal congratulations and good wishes from the Commonwealth of Australia, which I greatly appreciate."

EULOGIUM BY CANON BOYCE.

Canon Boyce, preaching at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, said:—In celebrating the birthday of our King, Edward VII, they might well be thankful that he had ruled so wise and good. He constantly showed himself active and anxious for the people's welfare, and deeply sympathetic in their troubles. His high character had won their admiration, and his constitutional right to their respect and regard. How different it had been with some others. He (Canon Boyce) could, for instance, think of the four years that he had spent in the House of Commons, and the influence he had on the private, religious, and national life of England. But his present King was always tactful, thoughtful, and genial, and had, by his good qualities, gained the love of the people. He had already won a title that had already won him a name for ages to come, that of Edward the Peacemaker. The reasons for it were acts of statesmanship of a mean and selfish kind, the expression of "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." May they all in their loyalty to the throne be guided by the spirit of the Empire, that day thank their God for so good a King.

Nov. 12. The King and the Queen are at Sandringham. His Majesty on his birthday received congratulations from all parts of the world.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Friday despatched the following message to His Majesty the King: "In the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Governor-General bids to offer loyal and respectful congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's birthday."

On Saturday morning Lord Northcote received the following reply: "I thank you very sincerely for the message of loyal congratulations and good wishes from the Commonwealth of Australia, which I greatly appreciate."

EULOGIUM BY CANON BOYCE.

Canon Boyce, preaching at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, said:—In celebrating the birthday of our King, Edward VII, they might well be thankful that he had ruled so wise and good. He constantly showed himself active and anxious for the people's welfare, and deeply sympathetic in their troubles. His high character had won their admiration, and his constitutional right to their respect and regard. How different it had been with some others. He (Canon Boyce) could, for instance, think of the four years that he had spent in the House of Commons, and the influence he had on the private, religious, and national life of England. But his present King was always tactful, thoughtful, and genial, and had, by his good qualities, gained the love of the people. He had already won a title that had already won him a name for ages to come, that of Edward the Peacemaker. The reasons for it were acts of statesmanship of a mean and selfish kind, the expression of "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." May they all in their loyalty to the throne be guided by the spirit of the Empire, that day thank their God for so good a King.

Nov. 13. The King and the Queen are at Sandringham. His Majesty on his birthday received congratulations from all parts of the world.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Friday despatched the following message to His Majesty the King: "In the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Governor-General bids to offer loyal and respectful congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's birthday."

On Saturday morning Lord Northcote received the following reply: "I thank you very sincerely for the message of loyal congratulations and good wishes from the Commonwealth of Australia, which I greatly appreciate."

EULOGIUM BY CANON BOYCE.

Canon Boyce, preaching at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, said:—In celebrating the birthday of our King, Edward VII, they might well be thankful that he had ruled so wise and good. He constantly showed himself active and anxious for the people's welfare, and deeply sympathetic in their troubles. His high character had won their admiration, and his constitutional right to their respect and regard. How different it had been with some others. He (Canon Boyce) could, for instance, think of the four years that he had spent in the House of Commons, and the influence he had on the private, religious, and national life of England. But his present King was always tactful, thoughtful, and genial, and had, by his good qualities, gained the love of the people. He had already won a title that had already won him a name for ages to come, that of Edward the Peacemaker. The reasons for it were acts of statesmanship of a mean and selfish kind, the expression of "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." May they all in their loyalty to the throne be guided by the spirit of the Empire, that day thank their God for so good a King.

Nov. 14. The King and the Queen are at Sandringham. His Majesty on his birthday received congratulations from all parts of the world.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Friday despatched the following message to His Majesty the King: "In the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Governor-General bids to offer loyal and respectful congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's birthday."

On Saturday morning Lord Northcote received the following reply: "I thank you very sincerely for the message of loyal congratulations and good wishes from the Commonwealth of Australia, which I greatly appreciate."

EULOGIUM BY CANON BOYCE.

Canon Boyce, preaching at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, said:—In celebrating the birthday of our King, Edward VII, they might well be thankful that he had ruled so wise and good. He constantly showed himself active and anxious for the people's welfare, and deeply sympathetic in their troubles. His high character had won their admiration, and his constitutional right to their respect and regard. How different it had been with some others. He (Canon Boyce) could, for instance, think of the four years that he had spent in the House of Commons, and the influence he had on the private, religious, and national life of England. But his present King was always tactful, thoughtful, and genial, and had, by his good qualities, gained the love of the people. He had already won a title that had already won him a name for ages to come, that of Edward the Peacemaker. The reasons for it were acts of statesmanship of a mean and selfish kind, the expression of "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." May they all in their loyalty to the throne be guided by the spirit of the Empire, that day thank their God for so good a King.

Nov. 15. The King and the Queen are at Sandringham. His Majesty on his birthday received congratulations from all parts of the world.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Friday despatched the following message to His Majesty the King: "In the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Governor-General bids to offer loyal and respectful congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's birthday."

On Saturday morning Lord Northcote received the following reply: "I thank you very sincerely for the message of loyal congratulations and good wishes from the Commonwealth of Australia, which I greatly appreciate."

EULOGIUM BY CANON BOYCE.

Canon Boyce, preaching at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, said:—In celebrating the birthday of our King, Edward VII, they might well be thankful that he had ruled so wise and good. He constantly showed himself active and anxious for the people's welfare, and deeply sympathetic in their troubles. His high character had won their admiration, and his constitutional right to their respect and regard. How different it had been with some others. He (Canon Boyce) could, for instance, think of the four years that he had spent in the House of Commons, and the influence he had on the private, religious, and national life of England. But his present King was always tactful, thoughtful, and genial, and had, by his good qualities, gained the love of the people. He had already won a title that had already won him a name for ages to come, that of Edward the Peacemaker. The reasons for it were acts of statesmanship of a mean and selfish kind, the expression of "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." May they all in their loyalty to the throne be guided by the spirit of the Empire, that day thank their God for so good a King.

Nov. 16. The King and the Queen are at Sandringham. His Majesty on his birthday received congratulations from all parts of the world.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Friday despatched the following message to His Majesty the King: "In the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Governor-General bids to offer loyal and respectful congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's birthday."

On Saturday morning Lord Northcote received the following reply: "I thank you very sincerely for the message of loyal congratulations and good wishes from the Commonwealth of Australia, which I greatly appreciate."

EULOGIUM BY CANON BOYCE.

Canon Boyce, preaching at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, said:—In celebrating the birthday of our King, Edward VII, they might well be thankful that he had ruled so wise and good. He constantly showed himself active and anxious for the people's welfare, and deeply sympathetic in their troubles. His high character had won their admiration, and his constitutional right to their respect and regard. How different it had been with some others. He (Canon Boyce) could, for instance, think of the four years that he had spent in the House of Commons, and the influence he had on the private, religious, and national life of England. But his present King was always tactful, thoughtful, and genial, and had, by his good qualities, gained the love of the people. He had already won a title that had already won him a name for ages to come, that of Edward the Peacemaker. The reasons for it were acts of statesmanship of a mean and selfish kind, the expression of "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." May they all in their loyalty to the throne be guided by the spirit of the Empire, that day thank their God for so good a King.

Nov. 17. The King and the Queen are at Sandringham. His Majesty on his birthday received congratulations from all parts of the world.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Friday despatched the following message to His Majesty the King: "In the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Governor-General bids to offer loyal and respectful congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's birthday."

On Saturday morning Lord Northcote received the following reply: "I thank you very sincerely for the message of loyal congratulations and good wishes from the Commonwealth of Australia, which I greatly appreciate."

EULOGIUM BY CANON BOYCE.

Canon Boyce, preaching at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, said:—In celebrating the birthday of our King, Edward VII, they might well be thankful that he had ruled so wise and good. He constantly showed himself active and anxious for the people's welfare, and deeply sympathetic in their troubles. His high character had won their admiration, and his constitutional right to their respect and regard. How different it had been with some others. He (Canon Boyce) could, for instance, think of the four years that he had spent in the House of Commons, and the influence he had on the private, religious, and national life of England. But his present King was always tactful, thoughtful, and genial, and had, by his good qualities, gained the love of the people. He had already won a title that had already won him a name for ages to come, that of Edward the Peacemaker. The reasons for it were acts of statesmanship of a mean and selfish kind, the expression of "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." May they all in their loyalty to the throne be guided by the spirit of the Empire, that day thank their God for so good a King.

Nov. 18. The King and the Queen are at Sandringham. His Majesty on his birthday received congratulations from all parts of the world.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Friday despatched the following message to His Majesty the King: "In the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Governor-General bids to offer loyal and respectful congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's birthday."

On Saturday morning Lord Northcote received the following reply: "I thank you very sincerely for the message of loyal congratulations and good wishes from the Commonwealth of Australia, which I greatly appreciate."

EULOGIUM BY CANON BOYCE.

Canon Boyce, preaching at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, said:—In celebrating the birthday of our King, Edward VII, they might well be thankful that he had ruled so wise and good. He constantly showed himself active and anxious for the people's welfare, and deeply sympathetic in their troubles. His high character had won their admiration, and his constitutional right to their respect and regard. How different it had been with some others. He (Canon Boyce) could, for instance, think of the four years that he had spent in the House of Commons, and the influence he had on the private, religious, and national life of England. But his present King was always tactful, thoughtful, and genial, and had, by his good qualities, gained the love of the people. He had already won a title that had already won him a name for ages to come, that of Edward the Peacemaker. The reasons for it were acts of statesmanship of a mean and selfish kind, the expression of "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." May they all in their loyalty to the throne be guided by the spirit of the Empire, that day thank their God for so good a King.

Nov. 19. The King and the Queen are at Sandringham. His Majesty on his birthday received congratulations from all parts of the world.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Friday despatched the following message to His Majesty the King: "In the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Governor-General bids to offer loyal and respectful congratulations on the occasion of your Majesty's birthday."

On Saturday morning Lord Northcote received the following reply: "I thank you very sincerely for the message of loyal congratulations and good wishes from the Commonwealth of Australia, which I greatly appreciate."

EULOGIUM BY CANON BOYCE.

Canon Boyce, preaching at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, said:—In celebrating the birthday of our King, Edward VII, they might well be thankful that he had ruled so wise and good. He constantly showed himself active and anxious for the people's welfare, and deeply sympathetic in their troubles. His high character had said that Mr. Reid made reference to the fact that labour was in power in South Australia and Queensland. He noticed that Mr. Reid also made reference to the subject. The previous reply was that the Government had handed over to the Commonwealth. Why should they renege the Labour party for not doing what they should have done? The Government put the whole of the work of old-age pensions upon Senator Reid. The latter had nothing to do with the State Parliament, except by voting as a member. This much-vaunted report dealt with the system on the Continent. It might be suitable for Germany, but was not for Australia. The only good of the report was to cast it into the waste-paper basket so far as Parliament was concerned.

Mr. Watson was accorded a vote of thanks for his address.

INSPECTION OF ROLLS.

Although the time for enrolment on the Federal rolls has passed, the officers of the people's reform league, 12 and 14, are inspecting the general rolls. Tickets are being issued showing the division, number on roll, and polling place. The rolls will be inspected by the officers of the league, and the results will be made known to the public. The rolls will be inspected by the officers of the league, and the results will be made known to the public. The rolls will be inspected by the officers of the league, and the results will be made known to the public.

EAST SYDNEY.

Despite the fact that the trades organizations have selected Mr. J. E. West to oppose Mr. Reid in East Sydney, Mr. Reid is pursuing his campaign. Mr. Reid will not be sorry to see a man pitted against him in the coming contest. Mr. Reid is confident that he will be able to defeat Mr. Reid. Mr. Reid is confident that he will be able to defeat Mr. Reid. Mr. Reid is confident that he will be able to defeat Mr. Reid.

CALARE.

Mr. T. Brown, Labour candidate for Calare, addressed a large meeting at the Royal hall on Friday. He said the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. The Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. The Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. The Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. The Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

FORBES.

Interest in the election in Forbes is daily increasing, and the fact that Mr. J. C. L. Fitzpatrick has been chosen to fill the breach caused by Mr. Crawford's withdrawal has attracted considerable attention. Mr. Fitzpatrick is a well-known local politician, and his candidature is expected to draw a large number of votes.

DARLING.

Mr. Spence delivered an address on Friday night, and defended the Labour party. Miss Hall, women's organizer of the Labour League, also gave an address.

EDEN-MONARO.

Mr. Chapman defended himself. Mr. Austin Chapman, Postmaster-General, addressed a large meeting at the Royal hall on Friday. He spoke for an hour and a half. He vigorously defended the Deakin Government, and made an onslaught on the Opposition. He charged that with misrepresentation on the Federal capital question. They had endorsed Mr. Reid's statement that the Government were responsible for the delay, and especially two members of it, whereas the delay had been with Mr. Reid. He said that Mr. Reid's man's own admission made in Parliament. He also warmly re-stated the action of the Sydney papers in the publicizing of the Deakin Government. He said that he was not a socialist. He also said that at Canberra, Nimitz, the Deakin Government had asked the plain question, "Are you a socialist?" and his answer had been, "I am not."

HUNTER.

Mr. W. Kearney, socialist Labour candidate for Hunter, last night gave an address from the balcony of Brady's Hotel.

MACQUARIE.

Mr. E. S. Carr, socialist Labour candidate for Macquarie, addressed a large meeting at the Town Hall last night. The Mayor, Alderman Shakespear presided. The candidate had a splendid hearing, and a vote of thanks was accorded him.

MILLTHORPE.

Mr. Sydney Smith addressed a large meeting at Millthorpe on Saturday, and received a splendid hearing. A vote of thanks was passed.

NEPEAN.

Mr. T. Taylor explained his position to a public meeting at Homebush on Saturday night. He had a good reception, and was urged to continue his candidature. He was appointed to wait upon the executive of the Democratic Union to protest against the selection of Mr. Bowden.

BLACKHEATH.

Under the auspices of the Australian Democratic Union, Mr. W. H. Kelly gave an address at Blackheath on Saturday. He spoke in favour of the socialist candidate for Nepean, Mr. A. Slatyer was chairman.

INVERPOOL.

Mr. E. K. Bowden, socialist anti-socialist candidate, addressed a meeting from the balcony of Cleary's Hotel on Saturday. He was a fair attendance of electors of both sexes. Mr. Bowden said that the Deakin Government was a Government constituted of members of the Labour party, who would be responsible for the delay in the Federal capital question. Mr. Reid had drawn the line of demarcation—socialists or anti-socialists.

LITHGOW.

Mr. J. Cook addressed a large meeting at Lithgow on Friday. He was subjected to much interruption when dealing with the Labour platform. They would have to do something with their immigration laws. His party was just as anxious as Mr. Watson to remove the immigration laws. They would have to do something with their immigration laws. His party was just as anxious as Mr. Watson to remove the immigration laws. They would have to do something with their immigration laws.

to have wages boards as in Victoria. The effect of a progressive land tax would be to reduce the value of land and to reduce the value of the land. The effect of a progressive land tax would be to reduce the value of land and to reduce the value of the land. The effect of a progressive land tax would be to reduce the value of land and to reduce the value of the land.

NEW ENGLAND.

Mr. Watson, Labour candidate for New England, addressed a large meeting at the Royal hall on Friday. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Watson said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

GUYRA.

Miss Eleanor Cameron, who has been doing good work on behalf of the Australian Democratic Union, Guyra, during the week, delivered an address on socialism and the Federal capital question at the School of Arts yesterday. Mr. C. R. Staples also spoke against socialism.

MANILLA.

Mr. Forster, Labour candidate, addressed a large gathering, and met with a splendid reception. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Forster said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

PARRAMATTA.

In connection with his candidature, Mr. Joseph Cook has arranged to address a meeting at Parramatta on Friday. He will be accompanied by Mr. Dugald Thomson, who will say farewell to the electors of that portion of his constituency.

RIVERINA.

Mr. G. H. Reid to-night addressed a large and representative meeting of electors in the interests of his anti-socialist campaign, and the Commonwealth. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Reid said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

SPEECH BY MR. G. H. REID.

Mr. G. H. Reid to-night addressed a large and representative meeting of electors in the interests of his anti-socialist campaign, and the Commonwealth. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Reid said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

HILLSTON.

Mr. Chatter addressed the electors at Hillston on Friday. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Chatter said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

GOULBURN.

Mr. D. R. Hall, Labour candidate for Goulburn, addressed a meeting at the Royal hall on Friday. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Hall said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

Sir J. L. Bonython's retirement. Sir Langdon Bonython announces that he has no intention of standing for re-election. This decision was formally reported by letter to the Prime Minister. Sir Langdon Bonython proposes to visit England next year.

THE SENATE.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

MINERS CEASE WORK.

Without making complaint. Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

WITHOUT MAKING COMPLAINT.

Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

KURRI KURRI.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

THE SENATE.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

MINERS CEASE WORK.

Without making complaint. Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

WITHOUT MAKING COMPLAINT.

Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

KURRI KURRI.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

THE SENATE.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

MINERS CEASE WORK.

Without making complaint. Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

WITHOUT MAKING COMPLAINT.

Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

SOUTH COAST MINES. HOBSON'S BAY TRAGEDY.

THE COAL AND COKE TRADE.

MEETING OF BOARD OF CONCILIATION.

THE MINERS' LODGE MEETINGS.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

It is a matter for satisfaction that the South Coast miners are doing a fairly ready market for their output. As a result of prosperity seems to have entered upon, and if development continues the district should benefit very materially. During the week the mines, with few exceptions, have been doing well. The mining industry has assumed such proportions that much depends on its prosperity. Thousands of people are concerned in it, and it is to be hoped that the present outlook with its probable increase of trade, will continue. The most marked feature of this week's operations has been the demand for small coal, over a thousand tons having been shipped from the district. The demand for small coal, over a thousand tons having been shipped from the district. The demand for small coal, over a thousand tons having been shipped from the district.

NEW ENGLAND.

Mr. Watson, Labour candidate for New England, addressed a large meeting at the Royal hall on Friday. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Watson said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

GUYRA.

Miss Eleanor Cameron, who has been doing good work on behalf of the Australian Democratic Union, Guyra, during the week, delivered an address on socialism and the Federal capital question at the School of Arts yesterday. Mr. C. R. Staples also spoke against socialism.

MANILLA.

Mr. Forster, Labour candidate, addressed a large gathering, and met with a splendid reception. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Forster said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

PARRAMATTA.

In connection with his candidature, Mr. Joseph Cook has arranged to address a meeting at Parramatta on Friday. He will be accompanied by Mr. Dugald Thomson, who will say farewell to the electors of that portion of his constituency.

RIVERINA.

Mr. G. H. Reid to-night addressed a large and representative meeting of electors in the interests of his anti-socialist campaign, and the Commonwealth. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Reid said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

SPEECH BY MR. G. H. REID.

Mr. G. H. Reid to-night addressed a large and representative meeting of electors in the interests of his anti-socialist campaign, and the Commonwealth. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Reid said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

HILLSTON.

Mr. Chatter addressed the electors at Hillston on Friday. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Chatter said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

GOULBURN.

Mr. D. R. Hall, Labour candidate for Goulburn, addressed a meeting at the Royal hall on Friday. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Hall said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

Sir J. L. Bonython's retirement. Sir Langdon Bonython announces that he has no intention of standing for re-election. This decision was formally reported by letter to the Prime Minister. Sir Langdon Bonython proposes to visit England next year.

THE SENATE.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

MINERS CEASE WORK.

Without making complaint. Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

WITHOUT MAKING COMPLAINT.

Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

KURRI KURRI.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

THE SENATE.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

MINERS CEASE WORK.

Without making complaint. Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

WITHOUT MAKING COMPLAINT.

Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

KURRI KURRI.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

THE SENATE.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

MINERS CEASE WORK.

Without making complaint. Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

WITHOUT MAKING COMPLAINT.

Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

SOUTH COAST MINES. HOBSON'S BAY TRAGEDY.

THE COAL AND COKE TRADE.

MEETING OF BOARD OF CONCILIATION.

THE MINERS' LODGE MEETINGS.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

A sensational and tragic event occurred in Hobson's Bay yesterday evening. Between 8 and 9 o'clock a small tug, the "Vulcan," was wrecked on the rocks. The tug was carrying a large quantity of coal. The crew of the tug were all drowned. The tug was carrying a large quantity of coal. The crew of the tug were all drowned. The tug was carrying a large quantity of coal. The crew of the tug were all drowned.

NEW ENGLAND.

Mr. Watson, Labour candidate for New England, addressed a large meeting at the Royal hall on Friday. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Watson said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

GUYRA.

Miss Eleanor Cameron, who has been doing good work on behalf of the Australian Democratic Union, Guyra, during the week, delivered an address on socialism and the Federal capital question at the School of Arts yesterday. Mr. C. R. Staples also spoke against socialism.

MANILLA.

Mr. Forster, Labour candidate, addressed a large gathering, and met with a splendid reception. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Forster said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

PARRAMATTA.

In connection with his candidature, Mr. Joseph Cook has arranged to address a meeting at Parramatta on Friday. He will be accompanied by Mr. Dugald Thomson, who will say farewell to the electors of that portion of his constituency.

RIVERINA.

Mr. G. H. Reid to-night addressed a large and representative meeting of electors in the interests of his anti-socialist campaign, and the Commonwealth. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Reid said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

SPEECH BY MR. G. H. REID.

Mr. G. H. Reid to-night addressed a large and representative meeting of electors in the interests of his anti-socialist campaign, and the Commonwealth. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Reid said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

HILLSTON.

Mr. Chatter addressed the electors at Hillston on Friday. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Chatter said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

GOULBURN.

Mr. D. R. Hall, Labour candidate for Goulburn, addressed a meeting at the Royal hall on Friday. He was welcomed by the Mayor and a number of leading citizens. He delivered an address in support of Mr. P. J. Porter's candidature. The Mayor presided. Mr. Hall said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

Sir J. L. Bonython's retirement. Sir Langdon Bonython announces that he has no intention of standing for re-election. This decision was formally reported by letter to the Prime Minister. Sir Langdon Bonython proposes to visit England next year.

THE SENATE.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

MINERS CEASE WORK.

Without making complaint. Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

WITHOUT MAKING COMPLAINT.

Another labour disturbance arose at Abernethy, but it was short lived, and ended in a strike. The Coorngas was due on Sunday, others looked to arrive being the steamers Tarcoola, Time, and Ararat. The management attempted to appropriate the strike fairly among the different parts of the mine. Some of the men were left out of work. The men did not complain to the manager, but on Thursday left their work. Mr. Fleischer, the manager, was considerably annoyed when he found that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work. He said that the men had left their work.

KURRI KURRI.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme. He said that the Labour party was the only party with a specific programme.

THE SENATE.

Mr. M. O. Moroney, one of the Socialists, spoke here last night and attacked the Labour party, which he declared was neither a socialist party nor a Labour party. He said that the Labour party

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Although there were only three starters for the Stewards' Mile at Morefield on Saturday, the majority of backers were away in their selections for Grand Bonnus, who was the outsider of the race and who was the winner. The winner showed that his victory was no fluke by scoring again in the Trolley Handicap, the last event on the card, although many were made earlier for him through a fluke, who started at odds of 10 to 1, and ground at the start. These two practically monopolized the betting, as much as 100 to 1 being offered against Phillip Work at Morefield. The former nearly did the trick of a good turf, for he was only just beaten after an interesting set-to from the home turf. Since the arrival in the metropolitan area on several occasions shown that he possessed a fair turn of speed, and she won the Flying Handicap at Morefield in good style on Saturday. The filly was a slightly better favourite than the filly, but she shaped disappointingly, and although she finished second, she never once looked like running the leader down. A. Hood's name was inadvertently omitted as the rider of the filly, and the filly, who was a short time afterwards put to the mistake caused a good number of people to put their faith in the mare. The filly was bred at the Gordon Brook stud on the Clarence River, and is by Imported Foratus. This filly also represented a winner at the Queensland T.C. meeting, where she was successful in the Birthday Handicap, for which he started an even money favourite.

The Kogarah stakes at Morefield on Saturday was a good thing for Morefield, and he was supported accordingly. He had every chance to assert himself, and looked like winning at the distance. The filly, who was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday. The winner's success in the Trolley Handicap was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday. The winner's success in the Trolley Handicap was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday.

ROSEHILL RACING CLUB.
Among the attractions provided for holiday-makers, the Rosehill Racing Club has arranged a programme of racing in the afternoon, and as the track is in splendid order, the programme should be productive of interest. The first race, the 100 Yards, was won by the filly, who was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday. The winner's success in the Trolley Handicap was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday.

KING'S BIRTHDAY MEETING.
The King's Birthday Meeting was held at Morefield on Saturday, and was a success. The first race, the 100 Yards, was won by the filly, who was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday. The winner's success in the Trolley Handicap was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday.

MOOREFIELD RACING CLUB.
The Moorefield Racing Club has arranged a programme of racing in the afternoon, and as the track is in splendid order, the programme should be productive of interest. The first race, the 100 Yards, was won by the filly, who was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday. The winner's success in the Trolley Handicap was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday.

GRAND BONNUS WINS A DOUBLE.
The Grand Bonnus won a double at Morefield on Saturday, and was a success. The first race, the 100 Yards, was won by the filly, who was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday. The winner's success in the Trolley Handicap was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday.

MOOREFIELD RACING CLUB.
The Moorefield Racing Club has arranged a programme of racing in the afternoon, and as the track is in splendid order, the programme should be productive of interest. The first race, the 100 Yards, was won by the filly, who was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday. The winner's success in the Trolley Handicap was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday.

GRAND BONNUS WINS A DOUBLE.
The Grand Bonnus won a double at Morefield on Saturday, and was a success. The first race, the 100 Yards, was won by the filly, who was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday. The winner's success in the Trolley Handicap was a high Lady name with an undeniable run, and scored a comfortable win. High Lady was by Haut Boy from Dabes, and was a half sister to the filly, and a full sister to a Maiden Welter at Ascot on Friday.

11/11/2019 10:11:11 AM

[illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible]